

2025-26 ski season

Dear Media Partner,

Thank you very much for taking the time to learn about Diamond Peak Ski Resort during our 60th winter of operations. The resort is scheduled to open on Thursday, December 4, 2025, conditions permitting.

If you have never experienced Diamond Peak, this press kit should be a good introduction; however, the best way to get acquainted with this unique resort is to come see it for yourself. If you ski or snowboard, we would be happy to give you a full tour of the mountain this winter. For those unable to join us on the slopes, we are happy to arrange Base Area tours upon request.

Diamond Peak is located above Incline Village, Nevada, on the north shore of Lake Tahoe – just up the hill from the Hyatt Regency Lake Tahoe Resort, renowned restaurants and brewpubs, and a huge range of outdoor activities. The Tahoe area offers the highest concentration of ski resorts in North America, from world-famous names to hidden gems like Diamond Peak – a community-owned resort known for having Tahoe's best view, best value, and a friendly atmosphere that skiers and riders looking to avoid the big corporate resorts love.

Photos: Should you require photos, logos or other graphics, you can access a great selection at this shared Google Drive folder: <https://bit.ly/dp-pressphotos> (Please read the photo usage agreement found in that folder.)

You will see from our photo archive that Diamond Peak offers incredible views of Lake Tahoe. Views of the lake are best seen from Crystal Ridge and Snowflake Lodge, but guests can also enjoy lake views from the beginner slopes, Base Lodge deck and even the parking lot. Our HD webcams, mounted on the top of Crystal Ridge, at Snowflake Lodge and around the resort, allow you to check conditions from the comfort of your screen.

If you have any further questions, need additional material, or would like to come tour the mountain on assignment, please do not hesitate to contact us. We look forward to working with you.

What's new at Diamond Peak for the 2025-26 ski season

60th anniversary celebrations, special "throw-back" prices, new Google Street View resort tour and more

INCLINE VILLAGE, Nev. (Fall 2025) – Diamond Peak Ski Resort is planning to open for skiing and snowboarding on Thursday, December 4, 2025, conditions permitting.

Celebrating 60 seasons of fun: When it opened on November 19, 1966, Diamond Peak Ski Resort – then known as Ski Incline – ushered in a new era of skiing in the Tahoe Basin. As the first resort in the West to utilize a man-made snowmaking system to augment what Mother Nature provided in the wintertime, the slopes of Ski Incline became a family-friendly destination from the very beginning.

Now almost 60 years later, the resort is celebrating its 60th "Diamond" anniversary season with a series of commemorative events, nostalgic gear giveaways, retro "$60 Days" lift ticket and learn-to-ski package pricing days, and community-focused engagement campaigns to connect old-school and brand-new skiers and riders.

Why Diamond Peak is Different: Community-owned, fiercely independent and community-driven – those are the key differentiating factors that make Diamond Peak distinct in the crowded Lake Tahoe ski resort scene. "Small but thrilling" would be another apt description, because with 1,840 vertical feet of skiable terrain packed into 655 acres, Diamond Peak offers some of the most skiable vertical in the Tahoe Basin. Add in panoramic Tahoe views from nearly every run on the mountain, incredible glades for tree skiing/riding, and one of Tahoe's most progressive terrain parks (The Village), and it's no wonder locals know Diamond Peak to be "Tahoe's hidden gem."

As a community-owned ski resort, Diamond Peak stands out in the Tahoe Basin and greater U.S. ski industry as a beacon to skiers and riders looking for a friendly, non-corporate vibe.

Google Street View ski-through previews: New for the 2025-26 ski season, Diamond Peak has mapped all its ski trails with 360-degree imagery and integrated the imagery into Google Maps' Street View technology. Now, you can take a virtual tour down any run at Diamond Peak from your browser or smartphone from the chairlift or the office.

While this Street View technology does not provide real-time conditions, the imagery will help progressing skiers and snowboarders to scout new runs they haven't tried yet to get a sense of the turns and slope angles they can expect. And it's perfect for scouting the ultimate selfie location to get the best Lake Tahoe backdrop to your ski day photos!

Ski More, Save More 2-Day and 3-Day Flex Passes: The more you ski, the more you save with 2-day and 3-day Flex Pass multiday lift tickets. These direct-to-lift mini passes offer two or three days of skiing or snowboarding any day this winter. A 3-Day Flex Pass is the best deal for people planning to ski multiple days, but not quite enough to justify a full season pass. 3-Day Flex Passes will go on sale in time for Black Friday at a special discounted rate.

Pass Holder Early Ups Event: Diamond Peak season pass holders are invited to join their fellow pass holders for an hour of early access to freshly groomed slopes (or fresh powder, depending on Mother Nature) and a complimentary continental breakfast on a date TBD in February 2026. Diamond Peak's lift operations team will open the Lakeview chairlift an hour early at 8:00 a.m. for season pass holders only, and there will be a selection of pastries, fruit and coffee/tea/juice at the mid-mountain Snowflake Lodge for pass holders to enjoy during their early access.

Bonus lift tickets for season pass holders: Diamond Peak's 2025-26 season pass holders will enjoy at least 49 complimentary lift tickets at 17 partner resorts across the country this winter – generally three days at each resort. Participating resorts include Beech Mountain (NC), Bogus Basin (ID), Cherry Peak (UT), Cooper (CO), Eaglecrest Ski Area (AK), Eagle Point Resort (UT), Loup Loup Ski Bowl (WA), Loveland Ski Area (CO), Monarch Mountain (CO), Mount

Bohemia (MI), Mt. Ashland (OR), Mt. Shasta Ski Park (CA), Plattekill Mountain (NY), Red River Ski Area (NM), Snow King Resort (WY), Tahoe Donner XC & Downhill (CA), and Wachusett Mountain (MA).

Every Diamond Peak pass holder also receives four discounted Bring-A-Friend Tickets, which can be used to bring friends to Diamond Peak. Visit DiamondPeak.com for details, restrictions and the full list of perks.

New Formulation of Alibi's Snowflake White IPA on Draft: Every winter for the past eight seasons the Snowflake White IPA – brewed specially for Diamond Peak by Incline Village-based Alibi Ale Works craft brewery – gets an update, and Alibi's brewing team has created a special hop profile for this winter's 60th anniversary season. The limited release IPA will be a citrus-forward refreshing brew that is available exclusively on draft at Diamond Peak's mid-mountain Snowflake Lodge as well as in Alibi's public houses throughout the ski season. Catch the release of this special beer at the annual Ski Season Kickoff Party on Friday, December 4, 2025, at the Alibi Public House in Incline Village.

Diamond Peak History & Sustainability

Diamond Peak Ski Resort began in 1966 as Ski Incline, the brainchild of Incline Village developers Art Wood and Harold Tiller. Wood had a master plan for a year-round, resort community at Lake Tahoe – Incline Village was to become the “Pebble Beach of the Sierra” – and in 1966, Wood and Tiller hired Austrian ski consultant Luggi Foeger to design and build Ski Incline.

Initially proposed on the slopes of Rose Knob Peak (the flat-topped peak to the north of Incline Village), Foeger recognized immediately that Rose Knob Peak would never work as a ski area due to its lack of beginner and intermediate level terrain and the south-facing orientation of the slopes (meaning it received too much sun during the winter for a dependable ski season). After exploring the peaks and ridges around Incline, Foeger chose the current location of the resort because it had an excellent variety of terrain, faces north-northwest, is easily accessed from the center of Incline Village, and offers beautiful views of Lake Tahoe. The one drawback to the resort’s location – its relatively low elevation and proximity to the air-warming waters of Lake Tahoe – was addressed by installing the first snowmaking system in the western United States.

On November 19, 1966, after only four months of construction, Ski Incline opened its doors. That first season turned out to be a great one, with the resort operating for its longest season on record to date – 170 days from November 19, 1966, until May 7, 1967.

In 1987, Ski Resort Manager Jurgen Wetzstein led the development of the upper mountain and the addition of the mile-long Crystal Quad chairlift to reach the top of the peak. This expansion doubled the resort’s skiable acreage and added more advanced terrain. With increased acreage, the resort extended the snowmaking system to cover the upper mountain along with adding more grooming equipment. Since most of the new trails were black diamonds, Ski Incline was renamed Diamond Peak. With the turn of the century, Diamond Peak embarked on a two-part capital improvement project, expanding the snowmaking system to permit snowmaking capabilities on 75 percent of developed terrain, and renovating the mid-mountain Snowflake Lodge with a new wrap-around deck featuring panoramic views of Lake Tahoe and the Sierra Nevada mountain range.

In 2003, Diamond Peak replaced its old Crystal Quad with the high-speed detachable Crystal Express quad to the top of the mountain. In 2008, Diamond Peak renovated the base lodge to include an expanded rental shop, the third-floor Loft Bar and 300-square-foot Loft Bar outdoor patio, a 300-square-foot meeting room, new restrooms, fixtures, siding and more. In the summer of 2009, Diamond Peak once again rebuilt its snowmaking system to allow for more efficient snow production. In 2010, Diamond Peak completed a large renovation project with a new Skier Services Building, featuring a plaza area, ticket windows, Child Ski & Ride Center, Ski Patrol headquarters, and offices. In 2013, the resort began the process of updating its Master Plan to revisit the potential for future development and potentially introduce summer activities.

Diamond Peak continues to make improvements to snowmaking – including the purchase of eight new TechnoAlpin high-efficiency TR8 snow guns and three TT10 tower-mounted snow guns over the past few seasons – and is continually assessing the system for upgrades to maximize snowmaking capacity and efficiency. Diamond Peak has also upgraded its grooming fleet with the addition of new PistenBully 600 snowcats during the 2021-22, 2023-24 and 2024-25 seasons.

As the resort celebrates its 60th season of operations in 2025-26, the entire community is invited to take part in the celebrations and share their memories from the slopes.

Diamond Peak Ski Resort is one of many resorts that recognizes global warming and the effects that pollutants have on our environment. These are a few things that Diamond Peak has done and continues to do to join the cause in helping our winters stay cool:

- Installed two ChargePoint electric vehicle charging stations at Diamond Peak (upper lot).
- Installed automated thermostats in our facilities, thereby reducing our energy use by at least 20%.
- Continually upgrade our snowmaking system to use newer, more energy-efficient technology including advanced TechnoAlpin fan guns and low-energy HKD snow guns.
- Installed Evolution (EVO) boilers for more efficient heating in the Skier Services Building.
- Offering two free ski shuttles that pick up in and around the Incline Village community.
- Installed dual-flush toilets, thermal windows, and new lighting to conserve water and energy.
- Installed hydration stations with sensors to encourage the use of reusable beverage containers, which are sold in the food court.
- Educate employees and the community through IVGID's Waste Not programs and signage.
- Encourage recycling by making recycling bins readily available.
- Participate in "Take Care Tahoe" regional sustainability campaigns.
- Partnerships with the League to Save Lake Tahoe and their Blue Crew cleanup events.
- Control soil erosion through slope maintenance, BMPs, and water bars to help protect Tahoe's water clarity.
- Use recyclable and biodegradable containers and utensils in food and beverage outlets.
- Print trail maps using mineral-based "stone paper" resulting in more durable/reusable products and no trees being harvested to produce paper.

Diamond Peak Ski Resort unveils new Google Street View virtual tour of its North Lake Tahoe ski slopes

Virtual visitors can now enjoy the same panoramic Lake Tahoe views that skiers and snowboarders at the resort enjoy in person.

INCLINE VILLAGE, Nev. (Fall 2025) – Diamond Peak Ski Resort is excited to showcase the resort’s signature panoramic Lake Tahoe views via the Google Street View platform this winter.

The resort worked with Trailview Studios to map all the resort’s ski runs with high-resolution 360-degree imagery which was then integrated into Google’s interactive Street View Studio platform. The result is that anyone with an internet connection can now take a virtual tour of Diamond Peak’s ski runs on their browser or mobile device.

“Diamond Peak has always been known for it’s incredible views of Lake Tahoe and gorgeous natural scenery,” said Paul Raymore, marketing and communications manager at Diamond Peak. “So, we’re very excited to be able to share those views via Google’s Street View platform this winter. Whether you’re planning a trip to the resort or just want to see what the runs on the upper mountain look like, this technology makes it easy to take a virtual tour of the slopes and see why Diamond Peak is known as Tahoe’s hidden gem.”

The Google Street View footage of Diamond Peak’s ski runs is now live and accessible via the Google Maps platform and application as well as on Diamond Peaks’ website. Simply search for “Diamond Peak Ski Resort” in Google Maps, then turn on the street view overlay by clicking on the little yellow person icon in the lower right-hand corner of the map (browser) or in the map details section (mobile app).

“As someone who eagerly studies trail maps and webcams before every ski trip, I find the unique perspective of Google Street View to be a game changer for exploring a mountain’s nuances. How steep are the blue runs? How narrow is that cat track? Do the chair lifts have safety bars? How dense are those trees? These are the kinds of questions we aim to answer with our 360° cameras,” said Andrew Atwong, founder and photographer at Trailview Studios. “It’s been a thrill to collaborate with the Diamond Peak team to create this resource and we’re excited to share more than eight miles of Street View coverage (totaling over 1,400 panoramic images) across nearly every trail on the mountain.”

Diamond Peak Ski Patrol Director Kari Brandt wins “Safety Champion” award from National Ski Areas Association

NSAA awards honor resorts and visionary individuals for their contributions in sustainability, safety, marketing and growth.

INCLINE VILLAGE, Nev. (May 16, 2025) – Diamond Peak Ski Resort is thrilled to announce that Kari Brandt – the resort’s Ski Patrol Director and Safety Coordinator – has been named the 2024-25 ski season “Safety Champion” by the National Ski Areas Association (NSAA).

Each season, the NSAA recognizes ski area members and employees doing innovative work in categories ranging from sustainability to safety, marketing and beginner conversion/growth. This year’s awards were announced on Tuesday, May 13 at the association’s annual convention in Marco Island, Florida.

Brandt was nominated for the prestigious Safety Champion award by John Rice and Jess Weaver of Ski California – an industry trade group created to provide a unified voice for the ski industry in California and Nevada to address issues that affect the industry.

“In addition to working full-time as Diamond Peak’s Ski Patrol Director and Safety Coordinator, Kari has proactively sought out opportunities to lead and participate in education, training and leadership development programs or organizations that benefit our industry,” said John Rice, president of Ski California. “Kari’s drive to lead and inspire others doesn’t stop there. She has also developed two non-profit organizations: Women of Patrol and the Sierra Nevada Resiliency Team.”

Brandt has been Diamond Peak’s Ski Patrol Director and Safety Coordinator since 2019, and has also worked with other departments within the Incline Village General Improvement District (which manages the ski resort) since 2023. During the winter season, Brandt can be found all over the mountain; and is often recognized as mom to Diamond Peak Ski Patrol dog Fred Wayne Sheppard, who serves as an unofficial ambassador for the patrol.

“Receiving this award from the national level is such an honor and would not be possible without all the support of others along the way,” Brandt said. “I constantly strive to encourage positive forward progress within the ski industry. We have come along way, with a lot more work to accomplish.”

Diamond Peak General Manager Mike Bandelin wins Dave McCoy Lifetime Achievement Award from Ski California

INCLINE VILLAGE, Nev. (June 16, 2025) – Diamond Peak Ski Resort is excited to announce that the resort's general manager, Mike Bandelin, was honored with the Dave McCoy Lifetime Achievement Award by California and Nevada ski industry trade group Ski California.

Bandelin was nominated for the honor by his colleagues Kari Brandt, patrol director and safety coordinator, and Jay Rydd, mountain operations manager. The award was presented at Ski California's Lift Maintenance and Operations Education (LMOE) conference in South Lake Tahoe on June 4, 2025.

"I have known and respected Mike for many years. He was the clear choice to receive this year's Dave McCoy Lifetime Achievement Award, which is the highest honor one can receive in our association," said John Rice, Ski California president. "He joins legends in our industry to be acknowledged for a lifetime of dedication and service to the ski resort business in California and Nevada."

Honored for his long service to the ski industry and commitment to sharing his knowledge and experience in all things resort operations related, Bandelin has worked for Diamond Peak Ski Resort and the Incline Village General Improvement District (which owns and operates the resort) in various capacities for over 40 years. During his tenure, he has worked his way up from shoveling snow in the parking lots to serving as general manager of the resort since the 2015-16 ski season.

The Dave McCoy Lifetime Achievement Award has been presented annually by Ski California since 1994. The award is presented to a long-term, "hands-on" ski area employee who has made a significant and lasting contribution to the maintenance and/or operations side of the ski industry through improvements in his or her field of expertise and by acting as a mentor and example to others. Past winners and more information about the awards can be found on the Ski California LMOE event web page: skicalifornia.org/education/lmoec.
