2026-27 ski season

Dear Media Partner,

Thank you very much for taking the time to learn about Diamond Peak Ski Resort during our 60th anniversary season! The resort is scheduled to open on Thursday, December 3, 2026, conditions permitting.

Diamond Peak has long been known as “Tahoe’s hidden gem” by locals and visitors to the resort. If you have never experienced Diamond Peak, this press kit should be a good introduction; however, the best way to get acquainted with our unique resort is to come see it for yourself. If you ski or snowboard, we would be happy to give you a full tour of the mountain this winter. For those unable to join us on the slopes, we are happy to arrange Base Area tours upon request.

Diamond Peak is located above Incline Village, Nevada, on the north shore of Lake Tahoe – just up the hill from the world-class hotels, renowned restaurants and brewpubs, and a huge range of outdoor activities. The Tahoe area offers the highest concentration of ski resorts in North America, from world-famous names to hidden gems like Diamond Peak – a community-owned resort known for having Tahoe’s best view, best value, and a friendly atmosphere that skiers and riders looking to avoid the big corporate resorts love.

Photos: Should you require photos, logos or other graphics, you can access a great selection at this shared Google Drive folder: https://bit.ly/dp-pressphotos (Please read the photo usage agreement found in that folder.)

You will see from our photo archive that Diamond Peak offers incredible views of Lake Tahoe. Views of the lake are best seen from Crystal Ridge and Snowflake Lodge, but guests can also enjoy lake views from the beginner slopes, Base Lodge deck and even the parking lot. Our HD webcams, mounted on the top of Crystal Ridge, at Snowflake Lodge and around the resort, allow you to check conditions from the comfort of your screen.

If you have any further questions, need additional material, or would like to come take a tour of the mountain on assignment, please do not hesitate to contact us. We look forward to working with you.

What's new at Diamond Peak for the 2026-27 ski season

60th anniversary celebrations, special "throw-back" prices, new snowmaking capabilities and more

INCLINE VILLAGE, Nev. (Fall 2026) – Diamond Peak Ski Resort is planning to open for skiing and snowboarding on Thursday, December 3, 2026, conditions permitting.

Celebrating 60 seasons of fun, again: When it opened on November 19, 1966, Diamond Peak Ski Resort – then known as Ski Incline – ushered in a new era of skiing in the Tahoe Basin. As the first resort in the West to utilize a man-made snowmaking system to augment what Mother Nature provided in the wintertime, the slopes of Ski Incline became a family-friendly destination from the very beginning.

Last winter, for its 60th season of operations, the resort celebrated with commemorative events, nostalgic gear giveaways, $60 lift tickets and more. And this year, given the November anniversary date, we're still celebrating our "Diamond" anniversary with even more of the same. Stay tuned for announcements on more retro "$60 Days" lift ticket and learn-to-ski package pricing days and community-focused engagement campaigns to connect old-school and brand-new skiers and riders.

Also, in honor of our diamond anniversary, the resort commissioned a commemorative 60th anniversary poster design by local artist Bryn Merrell. Bryn took one of the resort's signature panoramic Lake Tahoe views from the slopes and transformed it into a beautiful tribute to 60 great years of snowsports fun. Pick up a complimentary copy at any of Diamond Peak's special events or by stopping by the Diamond Peak Sports Shop inside the Base Lodge this season.

Why Diamond Peak is Different: Community-owned, fiercely independent and community-driven – those are the key differentiating factors that make Diamond Peak distinct in the crowded Lake Tahoe ski resort scene. "Small but thrilling" would be another apt description, because with 1,840 vertical feet of skiable terrain packed into 655 acres, Diamond Peak offers some of the most skiable vertical in the Tahoe Basin. Add in panoramic Tahoe views from nearly every run on the mountain, incredible glades for tree skiing/riding, and one of Tahoe's most progressive terrain parks (The Village), and it's no wonder locals know Diamond Peak to be "Tahoe's hidden gem."

As a community-owned ski resort, Diamond Peak stands out in the Tahoe Basin and greater U.S. ski industry as a beacon to skiers and riders looking for a friendly, non-corporate vibe.

Expanded Beginner Lessons: Diamond Peak's Ski & Ride Center (ages 7+) and Children's Ski & Ride Center (ages 4 – 6) will offer expanded beginner group lessons this season, bumping the lesson time up to 2.5 hours, with group lessons running from 9:30 a.m. – 12 p.m. and from 1 – 3:30 p.m.

The newly expanded lessons will allow first-time skiers and riders more time on the snow with an instructor, leading to greater progression in just one session. Beginner skiers and riders will also benefit as the longer lesson times mean more opportunities to try out different terrain at the resort.

Diamond Peak offers a first-time group lesson package which includes lift tickets, ski or snowboard lessons and all-day rental equipment for a discounted package price, and participants in the morning sessions can add an afternoon lesson for a further discount, or work on applying what they've learned on their own.

Snowmaking Upgrades: Diamond Peak has upgraded its snowmaking capabilities in the base area where multiple trails converge and chairlift loading areas require extra snowpack. This year a new TechnoAlpin TT10 tower-mounted fan gun and TR10 movable fan gun have been added to the snowmaking arsenal. Both fan guns utilize TechnoAlpin's latest technology, ensuring greater snow production in all kinds of conditions.

Get Lifted Coffee + Waffles: The new Get Lifted Coffee + Waffles food trailer will be making appearances in the Diamond Peak Base Area Plaza during busy weekends and holidays this ski season, offering a selection of unique espresso drinks, waffles, hot chocolate and more.

Friday Fundays Après-Ski DJ Series: Join local DJ Dom Morelli and friends on select Fridays each month of the ski season for "Friday Fundays" après-ski DJ dance parties at the Diamond Peak Loft Bar in the Base Lodge. When the weather allows, the party will move outdoors to the Loft Bar Sun Deck featuring views of the slopes and Lake Tahoe in the distance. The schedule will be posted to the Diamond Peak events calendar when dates are finalized.

Ski More, Save More 2-Day and 3-Day Flex Passes: The more you ski, the more you save with 2-day and 3-day Flex Pass multiday lift tickets. These direct-to-lift mini passes offer two or three days of skiing or snowboarding any day this winter. A 3-Day Flex Pass is the best deal for people planning to ski multiple days, but not quite enough to justify a full season pass. 3-Day Flex Passes will go on sale in time for Black Friday at a special discounted rate.

Pass Holder Early Ups Event: Diamond Peak season pass holders are invited to join their fellow pass holders for an hour of early access to freshly groomed slopes (or fresh powder, depending on Mother Nature) and a complimentary continental breakfast on a date TBD in February 2027. Diamond Peak's lift operations team will open the Lakeview chairlift an hour early at 8:00 a.m. for season pass holders only, and there will be a selection of pastries, fruit and coffee/tea/juice at the mid-mountain Snowflake Lodge for pass holders to enjoy during their early access.

Bonus Lift Tickets for Season Pass Holders: Diamond Peak's 2026-27 season pass holders will enjoy at least 42 complimentary lift tickets at 14 partner resorts across the country this winter – generally three days at each resort. Participating resorts include Bogus Basin (ID), Cherry Peak (UT), Cooper (CO), Eaglecrest Ski Area (AK), Loveland Ski Area (CO), Monarch Mountain (CO), Mount Bohemia (MI), Mt. Ashland (OR), Mt. Shasta Ski Park (CA), Plattekill Mountain (NY), Red River Ski Area (NM), Snow King Resort (WY), Tahoe Donner XC & Downhill (CA), and Whitecap Mountain Resort (WI). Every Diamond Peak pass holder also receives four discounted Bring-A-Friend Tickets, which can be used to bring friends to Diamond Peak. Visit DiamondPeak.com for details, restrictions and the full list of perks.

Future Diamond Peak Development Projects: Diamond Peak is in the early stages of a series of major capital investment projects which will bring upgraded snowmaking technology, new chairlift infrastructure, lower-mountain learning area improvements, new lower-mountain cat tracks to better connect infrequently used runs, and potentially a brand-new mid-mountain Snowflake Lodge facility. Details of these projects can be found online in the News section of our website.

Diamond Peak History & Sustainability

Diamond Peak Ski Resort began in 1966 as Ski Incline, the brainchild of Incline Village developers Art Wood and Harold Tiller. Wood had a master plan for a year-round, resort community at Lake Tahoe – Incline Village was to become the "Pebble Beach of the Sierra" – and in 1966, Wood and Tiller hired Austrian ski consultant Luggi Foeger to design and build Ski Incline.

Initially proposed on the slopes of Rose Knob Peak (the flat-topped peak to the north of Incline Village), Foeger recognized immediately that Rose Knob Peak would never work as a ski area due to its lack of beginner and intermediate level terrain and the south-facing orientation of the slopes (meaning it received too much sun during the winter for a dependable ski season). After exploring the peaks and ridges around Incline, Foeger chose the current location of the resort because it had an excellent variety of terrain, faces north-northwest, is easily accessed from the center of Incline Village, and offers beautiful views of Lake Tahoe. The one drawback to the resort's location – its relatively low elevation and proximity to the air-warming waters of Lake Tahoe – was addressed by installing the first snowmaking system in the western United States.

On November 19, 1966, after only four months of construction, Ski Incline opened its doors. That first season turned out to be a great one, with the resort operating for its longest season on record to date – 170 days from November 19, 1966, until May 7, 1967.

In 1987, Ski Resort Manager Jurgen Wetzstein led the development of the upper mountain and the addition of the mile-long Crystal Quad chairlift to reach the top of the peak. This expansion doubled the resort's skiable acreage and added more advanced terrain. With increased acreage, the resort extended the snowmaking system to cover the upper mountain along with adding more grooming equipment. Since most of the new trails were black diamonds, Ski Incline was renamed Diamond Peak. With the turn of the century, Diamond Peak embarked on a two-part capital improvement project, expanding the snowmaking system to permit snowmaking capabilities on 75 percent of developed terrain, and renovating the mid-mountain Snowflake Lodge with a new wrap-around deck featuring panoramic views of Lake Tahoe and the Sierra Nevada mountain range.

In 2003, Diamond Peak replaced its old Crystal Quad with the high-speed detachable Crystal Express quad to the top of the mountain. In 2008, Diamond Peak renovated the base lodge to include an expanded rental shop, the third-floor Loft Bar and 300-square-foot Loft Bar outdoor patio, a 300-square-foot meeting room, new restrooms, fixtures, siding and more. In the summer of 2009, Diamond Peak once again rebuilt its snowmaking system to allow for more efficient snow production. In 2010, Diamond Peak completed a large renovation project with a new Skier Services Building, featuring a plaza area, ticket windows, Child Ski & Ride Center, Ski Patrol headquarters, and offices. In 2013, the resort began the process of updating its Master Plan to revisit the potential for future development and potentially introduce summer activities.

Diamond Peak continues to make improvements to snowmaking – including the purchase of eight new TechnoAlpin high-efficiency TR8 snow guns and three TT10 tower-mounted snow guns over the past few seasons – and is continually assessing the system for upgrades to maximize snowmaking capacity and efficiency. Diamond Peak has also upgraded its grooming fleet with the addition of new PistenBully 600 snowcats during the 2021-22, 2023-24 and 2024-25 seasons.

As the resort celebrates its 60th anniversary season of operations in 2026-27, the entire community is invited to take part in the celebrations and share their memories from the slopes.

Diamond Peak Ski Resort is one of many resorts that recognizes global warming and the effects that pollutants have on our environment. These are a few things that Diamond Peak has done and continues to do to join the cause in helping our winters stay cool:

- Installed two ChargePoint electric vehicle charging stations at Diamond Peak (upper lot).
- Installed automated thermostats in our facilities, thereby reducing our energy use by at least 20%.
- Continually upgrade our snowmaking system to use newer, more energy-efficient technology including advanced TechnoAlpin fan guns.
- Installed Evolution (EVO) boilers for more efficient heating in the Skier Services Building.
- Offering two free ski shuttles that pick up in and around the Incline Village community.
- Installed dual-flush toilets, thermal windows, and new lighting to conserve water and energy.
- Installed hydration stations with sensors to encourage the use of reusable beverage containers, which are sold in the food court.
- Educate employees and the community through IVGID's Waste Not programs and signage.
- Encourage recycling by making recycling bins readily available.
- Participate in "Take Care Tahoe" regional sustainability campaigns.
- Partnerships with the League to Save Lake Tahoe and their Blue Crew cleanup events.
- Control soil erosion through slope maintenance, BMPs, and water bars to help protect Tahoe's water clarity.
- Use recyclable and biodegradable containers and utensils in food and beverage outlets.
- Print trail maps using mineral-based "stone paper" resulting in more durable/reusable products and no trees being harvested to produce paper.
